depending on the injury, treatment required may be minimal or may include interventions such as medications, emergency surgery or surgery years later but it's kind of confusing because if they'd bothered to check their answers they would have seen that they were wrong